CCBOOTCAMP ATTAINS CISCO LEARNING PARTNER STATUS Leading IT Training Provider looks toward the future with Cisco Partnership

Quality IT Training providers are in great demand. IT engineers and management professionals worldwide are facing tough economic times, thus looking for authorized training providers to assist with career development and advancement. Authorized learning partners are leading the way toward creating additional high quality, high level IT engineers in this demanding field.

CCBOOTCAMP is pleased to announce it has recently achieved Cisco Learning Partner status. Brad Ellis, CEO of CCBOOTCAMP, says, "Our CLP (Cisco Learning Partner) status confirms we are taking steps in the right direction and have met the strict requirements set forth by Cisco to attain this level of partnership. We have come a long way in our 10 year history and look forward to this partnership we have worked so hard to develop. We are a leader in Cisco training and are currently developing training products that will catapult us as the leader in innovative training solutions." Cisco Learning Partner status is highly coveted and granted only after a training provider has proven to Cisco they have met all requirements of the Cisco Learning Partner Program.

IT engineers are in constant need of quality, timely and affordable training. The high standards of CCBOOTCAMP training programs in conjunction with the Cisco Learning Partner Program will help ensure our IT engineers and management professional students receive the latest in Authorized Cisco IT training. CCBOOTCAMP provides Authorized Cisco training for most Certification programs Cisco has to offer IT engineers and companies who look to CCBOOTCAMP for all their Cisco training needs are eager to see the continued development of CCBOOTCAMP programs.

CCBOOTCAMP expects to continue the upward movement in the learning partner program and is in the process of adding additional training programs to its curriculum.
